How can I refresh the current contents of the paged grid?

Trough the action property set to the action-current-page value, you can empty the grid of any data except for column headers and generate the grid's PAGED-NEXT event.

If you position a data file using the START statement before performing this action, the grid will fill the page of data starting with the record selected by the START.

In attach a simple test program.

Online URL: https://support.veryant.com/phpkb/article.php?id=242