How can I control or restrict access to my WebClient applications and see the user name displayed in the WebClient console?