I need to compile one of my programs with different compiler options than the rest of the programs in a project. How can I do this either inside the IDE or from the command line?